

THE ART OF REST

drawn to your natural rhythm

SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION

Wild Woman Archetype Series

KEY DETAILS

- Applications are open from now until November 4.
- Recipients will be notified on November 11.
- Applications can be written responses, artistic submissions, or video submissions.
- We will award 1 full scholarship and 2 partial scholarships.
- Submit all scholarship materials to dagnyrose@theartofrest.me and cc: c.smith18010@gmail.com

ABOUT YOU

Name

Email

Phone (optional)

Preferred submission format (written / artistic / video)

- ☐ written
☐ artistic
☐ video

SCHOLARSHIP QUESTIONS

Please answer all of these questions to the best of your ability. Incomplete responses will be accepted, but harder for us to determine goodness of fit for our scholarship criteria. For any questions, please email dagnyrose@theartofrest.me or c.smith18010@gmail.com.

- What feels important to you about this book and its stories, and/or joining a women's group that is gathered specifically around story? Is there something specific in this season of the year, or this season of your life that would benefit from this type of gathering?
- Sometimes there is a true monetary barrier to programs like this, and at other times, it might not be the right "time" for this course. How do you know this is a monetary barrier above and beyond a timing barrier?
- If this scholarship opportunity wasn't available, what might you miss out on at this time in your life?
- Without a monetary exchange, is there something you'd be willing to exchange energetically instead? How might that contribute to the group as a whole or to your ongoing relationship with story now and into the future?
- How will participating in this course feed back into your existing family, friends, and communities in the near or far future?
- If you end up enrolling in this course, what feels most alive and exciting to you about participating?
- Are there any other important considerations we should understand about your scholarship application that wouldn't have been stated by answering these questions?

THANK YOU

We look forward to reviewing your application materials and hopefully howling with you soon!